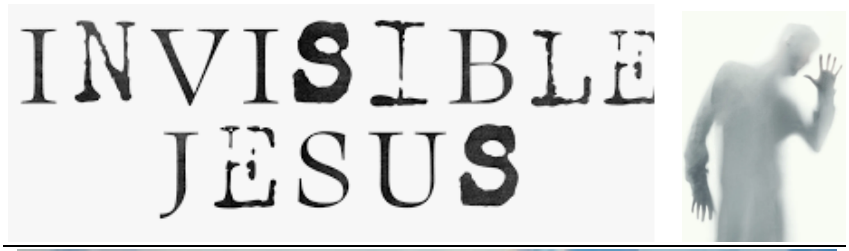
SUPERNATURAL DISAPPEARANCE OF JESUS



"For those who have eyes to see and ears to hear."

TODAY WE ARE LEARNING ABOUT OTHER DIMENSIONALS WHO TRAVEL IN AN OUT OF OUR 3 DIMENSION WORLD.

Jesus was certainly an OTHER DIMENSIONAL IF YOU DO YOUR HOMEORK. This is something the church seldom talks about because they cannot explain scientifically how he could do that.

There are countless accounts about Dogman, Bigfoot, Aliens and UFO's becoming invisible which means the TECHNOLOGY IS OUT THERE. It is not WOO! WOO!

The idea of "Jesus dematerializing" often refers to the accounts in the New Testament where he appears suddenly in a locked room and disappears from sight, a concept interpreted by some as a supernatural ability.

While the Bible doesn't explicitly use the term "dematerialize," this interpretation suggests that, Jesus' body was transformed, allowing him to move through solid objects, appear and disappear at will, and ascend into heaven. Other interpretations argue that his appearances and disappearances are consistent with a physical, albeit glorified, body rather than a dematerializing one.

A glorified body is believed to have the same real, physical substance as an earthly body but in a perfected, incorruptible, and spiritualized state. These bodies are expected to have qualities like impassibility (incapable of suffering), subtlety (not bound by physical limitations), agility (under complete control of the soul), and clarity (shining with brightness). Some refer to aliens as light beings for similar reasons. This is about technology that we do not understand yet.

When you look into the perfect uncontaminated bodies many of us will be given soon if prophecy is correct we will once again have bodies like that which do not get sick age or die anymore.

Jesus referred to them as "glorified bodies." He taught that one-day we will be able to do what he did and more. "Off with the Old on with the New."

EVIDENCE AND INTERPRETATIONS FOR THE INVISIBLE JESUS IN THE BIBLE

Appearing and disappearing: The most common references are to instances where Jesus appeared to his disciples even with the doors shut (John 20:19) and later vanished from their sight (Luke 24:31).

- "Dematerializing" as a supernatural ability: Some interpret these events as Jesus having the supernatural ability to "dematerialize" or "materialize" his body at will.

- Ascension: The ascension into heaven is also cited as a "dematerializing" event where his body became "non-fleshly" which seems to mean that it is cloaked in invisiblity.
- Some argue that the appearances can be explained through other means, such as a physical body moving through an opening, or through the disciples' initial fear and confusion, rather than actual dematerialization.

According to the biblical account in Luke 4:30, Jesus was able to "pass through the midst of them" and disappear from an angry mob in Nazareth by walking through the crowd, though the exact method is not detailed and is often interpreted as a supernatural event. Interpretations of how this was possible include divine intervention making himself invisible or the crowd being supernaturally restrained or blinded. During alien abductions the people around the abductees are placed in a frozen state. Again this is all about technology we do not understand yet.

Biblical account

- The incident: In Luke 4:28-30, after Jesus spoke in the synagogue in Nazareth, the people became furious, dragged him out of the town, and took him to a cliff, intending to throw him off.
- The escape: The text states, "But he, passing through the midst of them, went his way". The mob was physically moving him towards the cliff, yet he was able to pass through them and leave unharmed.

HOW DO WE INTERPRET THAT?

- Divine intervention: Many interpretations suggest this was a supernatural event where Jesus was divinely protected in some way where he could disappear in their midst. Was he caught up or abducted into the air by Our Heavenly Father?
- This could have involved him becoming physically invisible, a phenomenon described in other biblical passages where people were prevented from recognizing Jesus (e.g., Luke 24:16).
- Supernatural restraint: Another theory is that the mob was supernaturally restrained or blinded, preventing them from acting.
- Calm and authority: Some suggest that Jesus's divine authority and calm demeanor caused the mob's intent to dissolve, allowing him to simply walk away.
- Uncommitted mob: Some discussions suggest that the mob may not have been fully committed to murder, but were merely threatening Jesus, allowing him to "slip away" as some translations describe the event.

Their is no Real Conclusion it's all SPECULATION

The Bible itself does not provide a step-by-step explanation but presents the event as happening through the midst of the crowd, indicating a supernatural event that aligns with his divine nature. Interpretations range from divine invisibility to the crowd's inability to act due to a higher power.

AI Overview

Jesus disappeared from crowds on several occasions, often to evade hostile mobs or to avoid being forced into a political role he did not want. A key instance is in Luke 4:29-30, where an angry crowd tried to throw him off a cliff, but he "passed right through the crowd and went on his way". This is interpreted as a display of divine protection and authority, emphasizing that his time had not yet come.

Examples from the Bible

- Escaping an angry mob: After Jesus spoke in the synagogue in Nazareth, the people became enraged and dragged him to the edge of a cliff, intending to kill him. However, he passed through the crowd and escaped unharmed.
- Leaving unnoticed: After healing a man in Jerusalem, Jesus "slipped away" into the crowd, so the healed man did not know who had healed him.
- Avoiding a forced kingship: In another instance, after a crowd tried to force him to become king, Jesus "withdrew to a solitary place" by boat.
- General practice: The Gospels note that Jesus frequently withdrew from crowds, sometimes to be alone with God in prayer, other times to avoid being overwhelmed by the constant demands of people seeking healing.
